

The effect of exercise on the survival of Phoxinus phoxinus L. in sodium cyanide solutions

H. H. Costa

Summary

Minnows (Phoxinus phoxinus) exercised moderately or severely in an apparatus lost their sense of balance in a shorter time than controls in moderately low and high concentrations of sodium cyanide. This loss of equilibrium was also proportional to the duration of exercise.