

The Heritage of Indigenous Knowledge for Ecological Balance

PARAS KUMAR CHOUDHARY

Department of Sociology

RANCHI UNIVERSITY

Ranchi 834008 Jharkhand, INDIA

Email Address: drpkchoudhary@yahoo.co.in

Abstract: The religion in complex Society will help us to understand, how individual beings create solidarity in Society by inculcating and internalizing the belief system and ritual practices. The religion brings solidarity and unity among the members of society. The whole religion of the world civilization can be classified into two parts - inner worldly asceticism and other worldly mysticism. All religions believe in the existence of mystical God. In the modern societies, such as in USA, UK, Canada etc., there is conflict between religious groups in the form of religious nationality, such as Scottish nationality. It is also more prominent in India, which has a multi-cultural and religious identity. Communalism emerges when a religious group is converted into a political community. Our society is traditional, but the state is modern. In the medieval India there was no communal disharmony. Communal clashes are the by product of the Pseudo Secularism and Pseudo nationalism.